SAIL-AWAY MEET UP

We will meet in the Sunset Bar on Lawn Deck at the aft end of the ship immediately after the muster/lifeboat drill in Amsterdam. Plan on meeting everyone for the first time on board.

If it is raining (heaven forbid) we will meet one deck down at the furthest aft part of the Oceanview Cafe (buffet). There is an area that is outdoors below the Sunset Bar.

Here is a deck map that shows you where to meet.

Meet here for the SailAway Get Together immediately after the muster drill!

If it rains (heaven forbid) go down one deck to the rear of the Oceanview Cafe (buffet)

CRUISE-CONNECTIONS PARTY

Cruise Connections Party–You must register before we sail! If you get to your cabin and you don't find an invitation make sure and ask other Roll Call members at the Sail-Away get together to find out the time and location. You can also call Guest Relations.

As of the last time I checked before today (June 27) we had well over 150 people registered so we will undoubtedly have a Connections Party and although there is NO WAY to predict pre-cruise when or where it will be, the likelihood that it will be on Sunday, August 7 in the morning in a fairly large venue, historically that would be the Sky Observation Lounge.

GIFT EXCHANGE

All it takes to join in the fun is a wrapped or bagged gift in the $10-$12 range representing your city, state or country (no sports teams or university items, thanks).

The Gift Exchange will be held during the Connections Party- the time and place for that is determined by Celebrity (see above). There should be an invite awaiting you in your cabin. If you don't get one, ask at the Sail-Away meet up (previous page).

Gifts in the $10-$12 US range representing your city, state or country (no sports or college items, thanks!) to be wrapped or gift bagged and brought to the Connections party where you will draw a number, and choose a gift based on number drawn.

Because there are so many of us on the roll call, it will be too difficult to guess the giver, so please include your Cruise Critic name, real names and where you are from inside the packaging. Then the fun will be after opening the gift when each recipient seeks the gift-giver & vice-versa!

As of the day this was published these are the people participating in the gift exchange.

EDINBURGH MILITARY TATTOO BUSES FAQ

So, this all started when I was looking for a FEW other people to join the seven in our party to bus to and from the Edinburgh Military Tattoo. And it grew to where we now have 130 people who have signed up to take one of the buses. My friends keep asking me when I became a travel agent or tour operator. And I am on the hook for more than $400 in deposits and eventually the entire cost must be paid in advance a month before we sail. So here is everything you need to know.

What time will the bus leave from the tender dock?

The buses will depart the tender dock at 2:00 pm on August 16. They will take us directly to the Royal Mile, the site of the Edinburgh Tattoo. If you are not on the dock by 2:00 pm, you will need to find your own way to the Royal Mile. Our suggestion is to get off the ship any time after 1:00 and then do some local walking around the tender dock. Wander back when you see the buses pull in. Buses will leave for the Royal Mile as they fill up.

When will the buses leave the Royal Mile for the return trip?

The buses will leave immediately after the conclusion of the Military Tattoo. They will wait no longer than 30 minutes following the end of the performance. If you miss the bus, you must find your own way back to the ship. See the next page for where we are sitting at the Tattoo and you can figure out who you should be looking for to find your way back to the bus.

Where will the buses pick us up for the return trip?

You will be informed by the driver when you leave the bus where the bus will be for the return trip. We are hoping it will depart from the same place we are dropped off.

What bus company are we using?

We are getting three buses from Ladywell Travel. You can see their website by clicking here. They come with good reviews.

What if for some reason we do not dock in Edinburgh or I do not go on the cruise? Can I get a refund?

No. If this happens we are also out all the money we have spent on Tattoo tickets so the $12.50 for the bus is the least of our worries. I have to pay for the buses before we leave for the cruise and the cost is non-refundable. If this bothers you, I fully understand but this means you will need to find your own transportation to the Tattoo.

LAST SEA DAY LUNCH IN THE MDR

You are cordially invited to join us on the last sea day (August 18) at lunch at 12:30 pm local time in MDR. I will arrange it with the maitre'd or his/her assistant. I would love to know pre-cruise who would be interested in joining us. Or you can tell me at the sail-away or Celebrity Connections Party. On past cruises we have had as many as 60 attend. I just need an approximate number to go to X with..

This lunch is just lunch. No cost involved. I'll buy! But we have always been able to get our own section of the MDR with a couple of dedicated waiters and it has been great. We talk about the things we have liked or disliked about the cruise and just have fun.

PS: If by then you think you will be Cruise Criticed out by then, don't sweat it. Even if the seven in our party meet for lunch, we will have a great time.

This is our first "empty nesters" trip...excited and scared! We have one past cruise to Alaska on Celebrity, and we loved the experience and Alaska. We are both in our fifties. Jamie is a public school teacher (working in the district office) and Steve is in engineering working for Boeing. We met at a tall club dance (Steve is 6'8" and Jamie is 6'2") in the 1980's. We have two children; a son and a daughter - in college. This will be our first trip to Europe. Hobbies and interests include movies, travel, home improvement; and photography, gardening, computers, and electronics for Steve; and cooking, baking - competitively (county fair), and Disney for Jamie.

We are North Carolina Tar Heel and Carolina Panther fans. After working for the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill for many years, we now call Southport, NC, home and are enjoying coastal life. Pat was born in South Carolina and Ken is a native New Englander. We've been on 37 cruises and this British Isles cruise will be our 12th international cruise. We have a blended family of three children (and their spouses), eight grandchildren, and a little Maltese dog, Zoey. In addition to traveling, we enjoy wine and dining, entertaining family and friends, and music (Ken likes classical, jazz, and show tunes and Pat loves country music and anything by Andrea Bocelli). Dancing, stargazing, and snorkeling are also activities that we enjoy. We both like to play "chef". Ken's specialty is breakfast and he's the master of the grill. Pat likes to experiment with international dishes as well as traditional southern cooking. Pat is a dedicated blogger with both a recipe blog and a travel blog. We'll be staying in Amsterdam for at least two nights pre-cruise and are looking forward to meeting our fellow cruisers.

Our passion is cruising and meeting/making new friends along the way. Before cruising we spent years motorcycling through the back roads of New England and eastern Canada and were active in a local Star Touring & Riding Chapter. Since 1998, we've enjoyed cruising on Celebrity and Royal Caribbean as well as a few others. This is a big birthday year for me, so we've put together several trips to continue the celebration! I'm an independent home-based travel agent and Doug runs his data com business when we're not cruising. We both continue to enjoy life-long interests in astrology and Reiki. Together we have an extended family of 4 children, 5 grandkids and 2 greats.

I work for Portland 9-1-1, not as a dispatcher but as an administrative assistant. It's interesting work. We have 3 grown sons, but no daughter-in-laws just yet. I'm hoping it won't be too much longer as we desperately need more females in this family. So far we've done 3 cruises, one to Alaska and two Med cruises. She taught for 20 years until her school closed down, and now she does tutoring and takes on odd jobs. In the fall she will work for Operation Christmas Child, helping to process hundreds of thousands of shoebox gifts that are sent to needy children around the world. We are taking this upcoming cruise to celebrate our 25th wedding anniversary. Since Frances has more time on her hands, she has done all the planning for this trip, including researching and booking excursions and figuring out transportation. Since we never had children, we have done extensive travelling around the world (we are at approximately 50 different countries now and we keep a flag collection of where we have been). As for cruises, this is our 7th cruise if you count river cruises, 3rd with Celebrity.

We work together in an IT company in Sydney, Australia so we spend a lot of time together. Good thing we get on so well.

We live inner city so we no longer have the need for a car and we walk everywhere. It also makes it very easy to enjoy the numerous restaurants and bars that surround us.

Looking forward to the trip, as we always do.

Holly and I are in our early 50s. Holly is a Budget Analyst for the Department of Defense, and I am an active duty Air Traffic Controller in the Navy. I meet precious few other Sailors who pay to go on cruises :)

Holly has worked for DoD for 32+ years, and I just went over 31. I have 11 years' service as a Reserve and now just over 20 active. Still enjoy the camaraderie and the challenges- so not ready quite yet to tell Uncle Sam 'aloha'. Holly & I have a lot of history with the military- we met while I was on my very first enlistment and she was a volunteer at the local USO.

Our first passion is travel. We firmly believe, like Mark Twain wrote (The Innocents Abroad, 1867), that exploration of other cultures is fatal to small-mindedness.

My second passion, and quite linked to the first- is independent filmmaking (not exotic as sounding). I take a fair amount of gear on some of our trips, and while I don't let tech get in the way of fun- I do use it to capture our travels, blogging and in post production- taking a month or two to turn that media into a fairly involved 'family' video. Ask me anything about how to do this- I'm happy to assist.

Holly's other passions include cooking and photography. She takes most of our closeup shots (and quite well).

I've never been to Ireland and Scotland has been on my list the last three times we have been to the UK, but we always seem to go south instead of north! This year we were on a Baltic cruise on Celebrity - it was amazing. We went to some ports not on the usual itinerary in Poland and Lithuania - both were great. We skipped going in to Berlin because it was just too far for a one day trip. So we think for this trip we might fly to Berlin and then go to Amsterdam for the cruise.

Our Map

As long as I can remember I have loved maps and once Google Maps came along I made good use of them. Here's a map of where we all live (as of 7-12/16). I did not include any of the people who did not give me an exact city name or anyone who does not post on Cruise Critic. If you have an Internet connection, you can click the map below to go to the actual Google map. This map is not the actual map. The text will not scroll. To do that, you need to be online and click the map to see the actual map on Google Maps. The map below is just a big button.

Amsterdam

Here's a map I did for us based on the Banks Mansion (right in the middle) of all the sites we are going to try and see in Amsterdam. If you have an Internet connection you can click on the map to open it online. This map is not the actual map. The text will not scroll. ## Gay Pride Canal Parade Route

On the day we sail, Amsterdam will host the largest Gay Pride Parade in their canals in all of Europe. Some cruisers were wondering about exactly where it went. Keep in mind in getting to the ship, it is almost right in between them and the people trying to get great places to watch will be clogging the bridges. It starts at 1:30 pm so most of us will be on board by then Click the map for more info about the parade if you have an Internet connection. This map is not the actual map. The text will not scroll. To do that, you need to be online and click the map to see the actual map on Google Maps. The map below is just a big button.

Our Hotels

Here is where all of us are staying prior to the cruise.

This map also includes the cruise terminal and Aneka Rasa restaurant where many of us are having a rice table dinner on the night before we sail. n

LAST PAGE!

You are here—The End!

As I write this two weeks before our embarkation day, I have to tell you all how much I have loved creating this website, meeting all of you, arranging buses, Rice Table dinners and keeping track of all of you on the site. It has been the most incredible Roll Call experience of any of our 20 cruises. Thank you all for making it work and I know we are going to have an AWESOME cruise.

And a special thanks to the love of my life, Kathleen (BellKat) for putting up with me doing this. No, honey, I will NEVER do another one. I promise.

Jim
